SUPPORTING FAMILIES AND YOUNG CHILDREN

Parent Connections is a no-cost, in-home service that provides information, support and guidance to families with young children, ages birth to 5, who have concerns about their young child's progress, growth, and development. This program serves children who are not currently receiving services from Birth to Three or through their local school district. Families will receive home-based developmental screenings, individualized education and guidance on how to address their child's developmental needs, and coordination with medical, social and educational resources.

Families can be referred through Wheeler's Pediatric Clinic and Hartford area Birth to Three providers.

THE PROGRAM SERVES FAMILIES IN THE GREATER HARTFORD AREA.
